

Freie Hochschule für Geisteswissenschaft

Sektion für Landwirtschaft

Press release

Dornach, 1st October 2016

„Shaping the future“ - Intensive study week 2016 28th - 4th March 2016 at the Goetheanum, Dornach (CH)

In 2016 the Intensive Study Week „Shaping the future“ from the Section for Agriculture will take place from 28th of February to 4th of March at the Glashaus at the Goetheanum in German and English.

The intensive study week is a workshop for people who are active in the organic or the biodynamic movement and who want to take a new creative step for their farm, organisation or enterprise.

The intensive study week is based on the U-process developed by Claus-Otto Scharmer and the work is run using mainly dialogue methods. Each participant will work with his/her own question or project. In this way, the method for shaping the future is learned as well as concrete solutions for the current situation are found. In-depth contributions out of anthroposophy on the method and on topical issues complement the work and provide impulses for it.

The number of participants is limited to enable intensive exchange and cooperation.

For further informations and registration please contact the Section for Agriculture: sektion.landwirtschaft@goetheanum.ch

Tel.: 0041 (0)617064212

www.sektion.landwirtschaft.org